I am writing this note to you with a heavy heart. Sometime at the beginning of March the Archbishop called me to ask if I would consider taking up the Parish of the Holy Cross Carshalton. To which I told him not at this time, but he told me to think and pray over it. Unfortunately, a decision was made, that I had to take. I will take up the appointment at the first weekend of July. The Archbishop I understand has appointed Fr Paul Okoro as my successor. I can only say, I am sad to leave as I have enjoyed my close to 4 years here. I would have loved to stay much longer. You have all been good, cooperative and loving to me. I am indeed very grateful to you for the team work and trust we all had in each other. I couldn't with my own weaknesses and fragility lasted this long without your support and understanding. Without each other's contribution and support we would have achieved nothing if ever any progress was made during my time here. The Parish of St Pius X will be one of my experiences and stories of the journey and vocation of my Priesthood. Thank you very much for allowing me to exercise this call and service in your midst and for helping me to live the vocation of my priesthood. You were both a challenge and help/support to me. For, those I have hurt and who felt I was not good enough a priest or I have scandalised, I humbly ask for your forgiveness and please do pray for me. St Pius X Norbiton and all of you will always be in my heart. Thank you so much, until we meet again.

Adieu,
Henry
